I want to take you back a year or so...
Making it better for the academic:

1 Change the perception of the system

Ask not what you can do for the Research Management System, ask what the Research Management System can do for you
They felt like they got nothing in return.

Making it better for the academic:

Change

2

the processes to make them as easy as possible
Don’t make it any harder than it really needs to be...

I’m in the import export business
Making it better for the academic:

3

Change the roadblock into a well-stocked fridge

- Generate CV for funding application
- Check latest paper citation counts
- Record recent CPD activities
Making it better for the Library:

Repository

Users, Publications, Groups

the model – data flows one way
Making it better for the Library: the role of the Library
Count more than just beans
The data can be used to influence what we do in the future, not just report on what we’ve done in the past.

Don’t just count the beans, look at the plants that created them.
Thank You!
